Therapy First presents...

HUMAN FACTORS IN DESIGN

A workshop for professionals involved in assessing and building homes and communities for persons with mobility impairments

March 1 and 2, 2007
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Conference Objectives

This workshop will bring the team of professionals together who are responsible for creating homes and communities for persons with mobility impairments to:

- Highlight opportunities for planners, designers and builders to profit from Universal Design concepts.
- Promote awareness of the needs of persons with mobility impairments and to identify how to build or modify environments in consideration of these needs
- Highlight that if we plan ahead, it does not have to cost more to consumers to have an accessible home
- Help determine the difference between the building code (how spaces must be built) and reality (how people actually live within the spaces when they have mobility impairments)
- Provide attendees with practical information on how to evaluate a home and become more aware of practical ideas and products to optimize accessibility.

Target Audience

Architects, Builders, City Planners, Contractors, Designers, Engineers, Real Estate Agents, Occupational Therapists, Product and Equipment Vendors, Universal Design Consultants, Insurance Providers, Funding Agencies, Government Officials, Educators and other related professionals. Consumers with mobility impairments and their caregivers are welcome to attend.
